

Summer 2014 Community Group Guide

Remember

Read the scripture passage from Sunday.

What are some truths that were personally applicable to you from our gathering? Are there any verses this week that are resonating with your current circumstance?

Were there any ideas that were new or refreshing?

What characteristics of God and the Gospel were good reminders? How were you encouraged? How was your life challenged?

Deepen

What are some other scripture passages that communicate the same messages that we focused on in our gathered time? (leader this will require that you do a little research, it will be good to ask this question and grow our expectation for folks to be in God's word and studying for themselves.)

Are there any narratives in scripture where these truths are illustrated in the form of a story?

Where do you see yourself as you think about the application of these truths? What are some practical ways that you can seek to encourage application in your life and in the life of your community?

How does the message of the Gospel compel and empower you to live in light of this truth?

Transform

After hearing the message on Sunday and thinking through how we can apply it, what are some ways you are hopeful for change in your life?

As followers of Christ and part of His church we seek to live in a manner worthy of the gospel in all relationships in our efforts to live on mission at our home, place of work, school, and wherever else God has placed us.

Are there any attitudes, beliefs, or actions you need to repent of as you seek to apply the Gospel in your life? What steps will you take towards obedience? How do you need accountability?

Scripture

Leader: Have a scripture to use to wrap up your discussion time around the Psalm. This should bring your discussion to a close and be a type of sending out for your people as you transition to prayer.
